1	Plaintiffs Facebook, Inc. and Mark Zuckerberg ("Facebook" or "Plaintiffs") allege
2	as follows:
3	PARTIES
4	1. Plaintiff Facebook, Inc. is a corporation organized under the laws of the State of
5	Delaware with its principal place of business in Palo Alto, California.
6	2. Plaintiff Mark Zuckerberg is an individual who is a resident of the State of
7	California. Mark Zuckerberg is the CEO and Founder of Facebook, Inc.
8	3. Plaintiffs allege, based on information and belief, that Defendant Cameron
9	Winklevoss is an individual who is a resident of the State of Connecticut.
10	4. Plaintiffs allege, based on information and belief, that Defendant Tyler
11	Winklevoss is an individual who is a resident of the State of Connecticut.
12	5. Plaintiffs allege, based on information and belief, that Defendant Divya Narendra
13	is an individual who is a resident of the State of New York.
14	6. Plaintiffs allege, based on information and belief, that Defendant Quinn Emanuel
15	Urquhart Oliver & Hedges, LLP ("Quinn Emanuel") is a limited liability partnership with offices
16	in the Northern District of California. Based on information and belief, Quinn Emanuel does not
17	have offices in Connecticut.
18	JURISDICTION AND VENUE- 28 U.S.C. §§ 1335, 1391, 1397
19	7. Defendant Quinn Emanuel has filed a notice of lien in the Northern District of
20	California against any monies or things of value received or to be received by Defendants
21	Cameron Winklevoss, Tyler Winklevoss and Divya Narendra. A true and correct copy of the
22	Notice of Lien is attached hereto as Exhibit 1. This notice of lien effects certain monies and
23	things of value ("settlement consideration") presently held in the trust account of a Special
24	Master, which settlement consideration would otherwise be transferred to Defendants Cameron
25	Winklevoss, Tyler Winklevoss and Divya Narendra.
26	8. The amount at issue exceeds $500.
27	9. Jurisdiction is founded on the basis of 28 U.S.C. § 1335. The amount in dispute exceeds $500 as required by 28 U.S.C. § 1335(a). At least one of the defendant claimants is diverse from another defendant claimant as required by 28 U.S.C. §§ 1332, 1335(a)(1).

10. Venue is properly laid in the Northern District of California, in that Plaintiffs are informed and believe, and based thereon allege, that Defendant Quinn Emanuel practices has offices in the Northern District of California, the settlement consideration is held in trust in the Northern District of California, the Court administering the enforcement of the Settlement Agreement providing for the transfer of settlement consideration from Facebook to Defendants Cameron Winklevoss, Tyler Winklevoss and Divya Narendra is the District Court for the Northern District of California, and Defendants Cameron Winklevoss, Tyler Winklevoss and Divya Narendra agreed that Court for the Northern District of California would have continuing jurisdiction to enforce the Settlement Agreement.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

- 11. Facebook, on the one hand, and ConnectU, Inc. ("ConnectU") and Defendants Cameron Winklevoss, Tyler Winklevoss and Divya Narendra on the other, were adverse parties in lawsuits filed in the Northern District of California, 5:07-CV-01389-JW ("California Action") and in the District of Massachusetts, 1:07-CV-10593-DPW ("Massachusetts Action"). Defendant Quinn Emanuel represented ConnectU and Defendants Cameron Winklevoss, Tyler Winklevoss and Divya Narendra in connection with the California and Massachusetts Actions.
- 12. On February 28, 2008, Plaintiffs, ConnectU and Defendants Cameron Winklevoss, Tyler Winklevoss and Divya Narendra entered into a global binding Settlement Agreement that resolved both the California Action and the Massachusetts Actions.
- 13. Pursuant to the terms of the Settlement Agreement, certain consideration, referred to herein as settlement consideration, will be owed by Plaintiffs to Defendants Cameron Winklevoss, Tyler Winklevoss and Divya Narendra. Each of the Defendants, Cameron Winklevoss, Tyler Winklevoss and Divya Narendra, claim an interest in the settlement consideration.
- 14. On April 24, 2008, Defendant Quinn Emanuel filed a Notice of Attorneys' Lien in the Northern District of California against ConnectU and Defendants Cameron Winklevoss, Tyler Winklevoss and Divya Narendra. Defendant Quinn Emanuel asserts a claim over any judgment, settlement or any other recovery paid to Defendants Cameron Winklevoss, Tyler Winklevoss and Divya Narendra in connection with the services it rendered in the California and Massachusetts Actions.

- 15. On June 25, 2008, following a dispute concerning the enforcement of the Settlement Agreement, the Court for the Northern District of California, the Honorable James Ware, presiding, appointed a Special Master to oversee the execution of the Settlement Agreement. The Court also ordered, among other things, Plaintiffs to deposit into the trust account of a Special Master the settlement consideration. A true and correct copy of the Order and the Judgment that followed is attached hereto as Exhibit 2 and Exhibit 3, respectively.
- 16. The settlement consideration deposited into the trust by Plaintiffs is subject to conflicting claims of Defendants Cameron Winklevoss, Tyler Winklevoss and Divya Narendra and Defendant Quinn Emanuel. Each of the them claims an interest in the settlement consideration.

THE CONFLICTING CLAIMS

- 17. Pursuant to Paragraph 7 of the Settlement Agreement, Defendants Cameron Winklevoss, Tyler Winklevoss and Divya Narendra have claimed an interest in the settlement consideration Plaintiffs has placed in trust with a Special Master.
- 18. Defendant Quinn Emanuel also claims an interest in the settlement consideration. See Exhibit 1, at 2:4-8. Defendant Quinn Emanuel further warns that any payment to Defendants Cameron Winklevoss, Tyler Winklevoss and Divya Narendra exposes Plaintiffs to possible liability for intentional interference with a contract. Id. at 2:9-13. Defendant Quinn Emanuel has not exempted the settlement consideration from the scope of the lien.
- 19. Defendants Cameron Winklevoss, Tyler Winklevoss and Divya Narendra do not recognize the claims of Defendant Quinn Emanuel and have not authorized Plaintiffs to use the settlement consideration to satisfy the claims of Defendant Quinn Emanuel.
- 20. By reason of the conflicting claims of Defendants Cameron Winklevoss, Tyler Winklevoss and Divya Narendra and Defendant Quinn Emanuel, an actual controversy exists and Plaintiffs are in doubt as to which Defendant is entitled to recovery of the settlement consideration or in how much.

- 21. Plaintiffs do not claim any interest in the settlement consideration.
- 22. It has been necessary for Plaintiffs to employ legal counsel and incur costs and expenses in the investigation of the conflicting claims, the legal basis thereof, and the prosecution of this Complaint, for which Plaintiffs are entitled to an award of reasonable attorneys' fees and costs.

CAUSE OF ACTION INTERPLEADER AND FOR DECLARATORY RELIEF

- 23. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate herein by reference, as though set forth in full, the allegations of paragraph 1-22, inclusive above.
- 24. Plaintiffs do not claim any interest in the settlement consideration. Defendants, and each of them, do claim an interest.
- 25. Plaintiffs cannot determine the validity of the claims of Defendants to the settlement consideration. Plaintiffs cannot pay the settlement consideration or any portion thereof without the danger of being subject to multiple and inconsistent liability.
- 26. Plaintiffs seek to have declaratory relief provided as to the amount due under the Settlement Agreement by judgment of this Court and to which Defendant. To that end, Plaintiffs seek direction from the Court regarding the disposition of the settlement consideration.

 Furthermore, Plaintiffs should be discharged from any further participation in this proceeding other than a judgment barring any further claims against Plaintiffs as to the settlement consideration.

WHEREFORE Plaintiffs demand judgment and seek declaratory relief against Defendants as follows:

- 1. That Defendants be required to interplead and settle among themselves their respective rights to the settlement consideration, and that Plaintiffs be discharged from any other or further liability to Defendants, or any of them;
- 2. That the Court declare which Defendant, Cameron Winklevoss, Tyler Winklevoss, Divya Narendra or Quinn Emanuel, is entitled to what amount or portion of the settlement consideration.

1	3. That Defendants, and each of them, be permanently enjoined from instituting or
2	prosecuting, directly or indirectly, any claim or action of any type or kind against Plaintiffs
3	arising from or in any manner connected with the Settlement Agreement, or their respective
4	claims for payment of some or all of the settlement consideration, except by declaratory judgment
5	and assertion of such claims in this action.
6	4. That the Court award to Plaintiffs their costs and reasonable attorneys' fees incurred
7	herein; and
8	5. For such other and further relief as the Court deems just.

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

SAN JOSE DIVISION

The Facebook, Inc., et al., NO. C 07-01389 JW

Plaintiffs, v.

ORDER GRANTING PLAINTIFFS'
CONFIDENTIAL MOTION TO ENFORCE THE SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

ConnectU, Inc., et al.,

Defendants.

I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiffs in this lawsuit are The Facebook Inc. and Mark Zuckerberg (collectively, "Facebook"). Plaintiffs bring this action against ConnectU, Inc., Pacific Northwest Software, Inc., Winston Williams, and Wayne Chang (collectively, "Defendants") alleging, inter alia, misappropriation of trade secrets, unfair competition, and violations of 18 U.S.C. § 1030, et seq. In essence, Facebook alleges that ConnectU gained unauthorized access to Facebook's servers and website and took information for its own unlawful use. The parties are engaged in at least two other lawsuits over these matters; in those cases, ConnectU is the Plaintiff and Facebook is the Defendant.

In the course of this lawsuit, the parties engaged in private mediation. On February 22, 2008, as the result of the mediation, the parties signed a written "Term Sheet & Settlement Agreement." In the Agreement, the parties agreed to resolve all of their disputes and to dismiss the pending lawsuits. The Agreement provides that they "may execute more formal documents but these terms are binding." After signing the Agreement, the parties attempted to draft formal documents but failed to reach a consensus on certain terms. In the Agreement, the parties stipulate that the federal court in San Jose, California has jurisdiction to enforce it. Based on a belief that a court order is necessary to enforce the February 22, 2008 Agreement, Facebook filed the present motion in this Court.¹

The question for decision by the Court is whether the February 22, 2008 Agreement contains sufficiently definite and essential terms that it may be enforced. For the reasons stated below, the Court finds that the Agreement is enforceable and orders its enforcement.

II. BACKGROUND

As stated above, this action is one of three separate actions between the parties in various federal courts.² On January 22, 2008, United States Magistrate Judge Richard Seeborg ordered the parties to participate in Alternative Dispute Resolution. (Docket Item No. 270.) The parties elected to participate in private mediation.

On February 22, 2008, the parties engaged in mediation before Antonio Piazza. Both sides were represented by counsel. As the result of the mediation, the parties signed a handwritten document entitled, "Term Sheet & Settlement Agreement" ("Agreement"). (Second Declaration of Evan A. Parke, Ex. A., hereafter, "Parke Decl.," filed under seal.)

With the precise financial terms redacted,³ the Agreement provides, as follows:⁴

² The other actions are ConnectU LLC v. Zuckerberg, Appeal No. 07-1796 (1st Cir.) and ConnectU, Inc. v. Facebook, Inc., Case No. C 07-10593-DPW (D. Mass.).

³ The Agreement recites that all of its terms are "confidential." At the hearing on the motion, the Court expressed its need to discuss the Agreement in its Order. The Court now determines that it can protect the confidentiality of the Agreement if references to the amount of consideration which the parties agreed to exchange as a part of the settlement are omitted. Moreover, since neither Facebook nor ConnectU are publicly traded companies at this time, the Court finds good cause to keep the transcript of the proceedings under seal as requested by the parties to protect their financial information.

⁴ (Declaration of Theresa A. Sutton in Support of Plaintiffs' Confidential Motion, hereafter, "Sutton Decl.," Ex. A at 1-2, filed under seal.) For authenticity purposes, the Court leaves all typographical errors and strikeouts in the Agreement unchanged.

The Term Sheet & Settlement Agreement

- The following will settle all disputes between ConnectU and its related parties, on the 1) one hand and Facebook and its related parties, on the other hand.
- All parties get mutual releases as broad as possible and all cases are dismissed with 2) prejudice. Each side bears their own attorneys fees and costs.
- 3) All terms of agreement are confidential, no party disparages any other parties and no party will comment further publicly related to facts underlying or related to this dispute. The parties will agree on any public statements. A violation of the publicity and confidentiality provision of this paragraph shall be submitted to a binding arbitrator who may award injunctive relief and damages up to [REDACTED] million.
- This Agreement is subject to the continuing enforcement of the court in San Jose to the current action.5
- 4) The parties stipulate that the San Jose Federal Court shall have jurisdiction to enforce this agreement.
- 5) The parties agree that they may execute more formal documents but these terms are binding and this document may be submitted into evidence to enforce this agreement.
- ConnectU founders represent and warrant (1) They have no further right to assert 6) against Facebook (2) They have no further claims against Facebook & its related parties.
- All ConnectU stock in exchange for [REDACTED] in cash & [REDACTED] 7) common shares in Facebook. The terms of the shares shall include a requirement that all votes related to the shares will be voted in accordance with the Board of Director's recommendations and be subject to the same anti-dilution protections afforded to Series D preferred stock. The form⁶ Facebook will determine the form & documentation of the acquisition of ConnectU's shares [Consistent with a stock and cash for stock acquisition]. Facebook represents that it currently has [REDACTED] fully diluted shares outstanding.

The Agreement was signed by Mark Zuckerberg, individually and on behalf of Facebook, and by Cameron Winklevoss, individually and on behalf of ConnectU. Tyler Winklevoss and Divya Narendra also signed the Agreement. (Sutton Decl., Ex. A at 2.) These individuals are principals of their respective companies.

Plaintiffs' motion to enforce the Agreement is made on the grounds that the Agreement unambiguously sets forth all material terms of the parties' settlement and Defendants should be ordered to comply with it. (Motion at 6.) Defendants contend that Facebook's motion to enforce the Agreement should be denied because (1) the agreement is missing material terms, (2) the terms which are included were not agreed upon, and (3) Facebook committed fraud in the procurement of the Agreement. (ConnectU's Opposition to Facebook's Confidential Motion at 6, hereafter, "Opposition," filed under seal.) In its reply, Plaintiffs contend that the Agreement was not procured by fraud. (Reply in Support of Confidential Motion at 9, hereafter, "Reply," filed under seal.) The Court considers each issue in turn.

III. DISCUSSION

The Court's Jurisdiction A.

Before considering the motion to enforce the Agreement, the Court considers its jurisdiction to act on such a motion. The Court also considers issues raised at the hearing, namely, whether Plaintiffs are required to file an action to enforce the Agreement, to which Defendants would be allowed to plead their objections to enforcement as affirmative defenses.

"It is well settled that a district court has the equitable power to enforce summarily an agreement to settle a case pending before it." Callie v. Near, 829 F.2d 888, 890 (9th Cir. 1987); Decanay v. Mendoza, 573 F.2d 1075, 1078 (9th Cir. 1978); TNT Mktg., Inc. v. Agresti, 796 F.2d 276, 278 (9th Cir. 1986); In re City Equities Anaheim, Ltd., 22 F.3d 954, 957 (9th Cir. 1994). Once a settlement has been reached in a pending action, any party to the agreement may bring a motion to enforce it. See Doi v. Halekulani Corp., 276 F.3d 1131, 1135 (9th Cir. 2002). Specifically, California law provides:

If parties to pending litigation stipulate, in a writing signed by the parties outside the presence of the court or orally before the court, for settlement of the case, or part thereof, the court, upon motion, may enter judgment pursuant to the terms of the settlement.

Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 664.6. In addition to the statutory power to enter a judgment, the court's enforcement powers include the inherent authority to order a party's specific performance of acts required by the settlement agreement and to award damages or other sanctions for noncompliance. TNT Mktg., 796 F.2d at 278.

In this case, in addition to its inherent authority and the authority conferred by California law, in Paragraph 4 of the Agreement, the parties explicitly stipulated that the Court has authority to exercise enforcement. Therefore, the Court is satisfied that it has the jurisdiction and authority to enforce the Agreement without requiring additional pleadings.

However, the power to enforce a settlement agreement can only be exercised if the terms have been agreed to by the individuals authorized to make decisions behalf of the parties. See Harrop v. W. Airlines, Inc., 550 F.2d 1143, 1145 (9th Cir. 1977). At the hearing, Defendants raised two issues regarding the authority of the Court to enforce the Agreement against the individuals and the corporations.

First, Defendants question whether there is a bases for the Court to exercise personal jurisdiction over ConnectU's individual shareholders, i.e., the three principals who signed the Agreement.⁸ The Court finds that by signing the Agreement with explicit statements such as those in Paragraphs 1, 2, and 4, each of the signatories subjected him or herself to the Court's jurisdiction for the limited purpose of enforcing the Agreement. Second, Defendants question whether ConnectU's individual shareholders received proper notice of the proceedings. The Court finds the three principals of ConnectU have had adequate notice since they are plaintiffs in the Massachusetts action where the parties have vigorously litigated discovery issues relating to the enforcement of this Agreement. (See June 3, 2008, Memorandum and Order, No. 07-10593-DPW, D. Mass.) It is incongruous to argue that these individuals did not receive notice of the motion since Judge

The construction and enforcement of settlement agreements are governed by principles of local law that apply to the interpretation of contracts, even if the underlying cause of action is federal. United Commercial Ins. Serv., Inc. v. Paymaster Corp., 962 F.2d 853, 856 (9th Cir. 1992). Thus, challenges to a settlement agreement based on interpretation of ambiguous terms, fraud in the inducement, or indefiniteness of a term all turn on the applicable state law. See White Farm Equip. Co. v. Kupcho, 792 F.2d 526, 529 (5th Cir. 1986); see, e.g., Doi, 276 F.3d at 1135.

California has a strong policy in favor of enforcing settlement agreements. Osumi v. Sutton, 151 Cal. App. 4th 1355, 1357 (2007). Under California law, a settlement agreement "must be interpreted as to give effect to the mutual intention of the parties as it existed at the time of contracting." Roden v. Bergen Brunswig Corp., 107 Cal. App. 4th 620, 625 (2003); see Cal. Civ. Code, § 1636. When the agreement is in writing, "the intention . . . is to be ascertained from the writing alone, if possible." Brinton v. Bankers Pension Serv., Inc., 76 Cal. App. 4th 550, 559 (1999); see Cal. Civ. Code § 1639. "[C]ourts will not set aside contracts for mere subjective misinterpretation." Hedging Concepts, Inc. v. First Alliance Mortgage Co., 41 Cal. App. 4th 1410, 1421 (1996). "A settlement agreement, like any other contract, is unenforceable if the parties fail to agree on a material term or if a material term is not reasonably certain." Lindsay v. Lewandowski, 139 Cal. App. 4th 1618, 1622 (2006) (citing Weddington Productions, Inc. v. Flick, 60 Cal. App. 4th 793, 811 (1998)).

First, the Agreement clearly states the consideration for the performance required and how it must be paid. (Sutton Decl., Ex. A at 1-2.) In exchange for a specified amount of cash and stock in ⁹ At the hearing, counsel for ConnectU's individual shareholders argued that they are not 'plaintiffs" in the Massachusetts action. The Court declines to entertain the notion since counsel admitted that the individual shareholders added themselves as plaintiffs to the amended complaint in that action.

Facebook, ConnectU founders are required under the Agreement to represent and warrant "they have no further right to assert against Facebook" and "they have no further claims against Facebook and its related parties." (Id.)

Second, the Agreement clearly defines the structure of the transaction. (Sutton Decl., Ex. A at 1-2.) Paragraph 7 recites that all ConnectU stock is to be exchanged for a sum certain amount of cash and a precise number of common shares in Facebook; it is a stock and cash for stock acquisition. Subsequent negotiations might have proposed a different structure for the transaction or other additional terms, but those proposal were, apparently, rejected. (Id., Ex. B.) The Court cannot considered subsequent negotiations as evidence that there was no "meeting of the minds" with the respect to the Agreement. The Court must determine the parties' intent from the four corners of the Agreement, not from the extrinsic evidence. Brinton, 76 Cal. App. 4th at 559; Cal. Civ. Code § 1639.

Third, the principals of each company, who are persons authorized to make decisions for the parties, all signed the handwritten version of the Agreement and none of the signatures are disputed. However, Defendants point out that one stockholder in ConnectU, Howard Winklevoss, was not a party to, and did not sign the Agreement. (Opposition at 10.) Therefore, the issue becomes whether the lack of Howard Winklevoss' signature makes the Agreement unenforceable.

ConnectU is a Connecticut corporation. (Id. at 1.) Under Connecticut law, a share exchange transaction only needs to be approved by majority vote. See Conn. Gen. Stat. § 33-816(a). As of May 23, 2006, Howard Winklevoss owned 1% of the outstanding shares in ConnectU. (Declaration of Neel Chatterjee in Support of Plaintiffs' Reply, Ex. B at 10, filed under seal.) There is no evidence his ownership interest changed as of the date of the Agreement. The shareholders who signed the Agreement own 99% of the outstanding shares. Since a majority of ConnectU's shareholders have agreed to the transaction, the consent of Howard Winklevoss is unnecessary to make the Agreement binding on him. Therefore, the lack of Howard Winklevoss' signature is not an impediment to enforcing the Agreement.

Defendants contend that the Agreement was only a starting point for negotiating more formal locumentation. (Opposition at 7-9.) However, the Agreement itself provides that the parties "may execute more formal documents," but that the Agreement is "binding." (Sutton Decl., Ex. A at 1, emphasis added.) It is significant that the parties used the word "may" in this instance as opposed to
'will," which they had readily used in other contexts. (See e.g., Agreement $\P \P 1, 3, 7$.) On the face of the Agreement, it is clear that, had the parties wished to require more formal documents, they could have indicated they will or shall execute more formal documents. Instead, they elected to use he word, "may," and made clear that the Agreement is binding in and of itself.

In sum, the Court finds that the Agreement reached by the parties does not display on its face a failure to agree or any uncertainty regarding its material terms. Accordingly, the Court finds that the Agreement is enforceable.

C. Whether the Agreement Was Procured by Fraud

Defendants contend that Facebook's motion to enforce the Agreement should be denied because Plaintiffs fraudulently procured the Agreement by misrepresenting Facebook's present value. (Opposition at 14.)

A contract is not enforceable if it was induced by fraud. Jones v. Grieve, 15 Cal. App. 561, 566-67 (1911). To prove fraud in the inducement of a contract, a party must establish the elements of common law fraud. Id. The elements of fraud are (1) misrepresentation; (2) scienter; (3) justifiable reliance; and (4) resulting damage. Buckland v. Threshold Enterprises, Ltd., 155 Cal. App. 4th 798, 806-07 (2007); Wilke v. Coinway, Inc., 257 Cal. App. 2d 126, 136 (1967) (quoting Cortez v. Weymouth, 235 Cal. App. 2d 140 (1965)). These legal principles apply to a contract to settle a lawsuit. See Merced County Mut. Fire Ins. Co. v. The State of California, 233 Cal. App. 3d 765, 771 (1991).

Where a party is represented by counsel, or where the alleged misrepresentation was made by an adversary during the course of negotiations, courts have held that reliance is unjustifiable. See Scognamill v. Credit Suisse First Boston LLC, 2005 WL 2045807 (N.D. Cal. 2005) (holding as a matter of law that reliance on representation of adversary in execution of merger agreement was unjustifiable where parties were represented by counsel during the negotiation process); Wilhelm v. Pray, Price, Williams & Russell, 186 Cal. App. 3d 1324 (1986) (holding that the fraud claim failed because plaintiff was represented by counsel at the time of the allegedly fraudulent statement, and it was not "reasonable for plaintiff to accept defendant's statements without an independent inquiry or investigation").

1. ConnectU's Proffer Regarding Facebook's Valuation

Defendants contend that they were defrauded during the settlement negotiations because Plaintiffs did not disclose a valuation of Facebook common stock which had been made by the Facebook Board of Directors. (Opposition at 6.)

Apparently, in October 2007, Facebook and Microsoft issued a press release stating Microsoft would "take a $240 million stake in Facebook's next round of financing at a $15 billion valuation." (Parke Decl., Ex. J.) Defendants proffer evidence that subsequent to the press release, in the regular course of its operations, Facebook's Board of Directors determined a value of the company's "shares" which was different than the valuation disclosed in the press release. (Declaration of Robert T. Clarkson ¶ 11, filed under seal.)

Defendants do not challenge the accuracy of the press release itself. Thus, there is no claim that the statement in the release was not true when it was made. (Declaration of Ted Wang in Support of Plaintiffs' Confidential Motion ¶ 2, filed under seal.) Plaintiffs do not deny that the Facebook Board of Directors made a subsequent valuation of Facebook shares which was a different value from the value Microsoft attributed to the company. However, Plaintiffs did not make any representations or warranties in the Agreement about the value of Facebook common stock.¹⁰

Defendants provide no authority to support their contention that either Facebook or Zuckerberg had a duty to disclose the Board's valuation to Defendants in the context of the settlement or to correct any subjective valuation which Defendants might have made when determining what demand to make in the mediation. It is clear that generally one has a duty to correct a disclosure which is misleading when made, but usually, there is no duty to a correct statement which is true at the time it is made. See Brody v. Transitional Hospitals Corp., 280 F.3d 997, 1006 (9th Cir. 2002); Backman v. Polaroid Corp., 910 F.2d 10, 17 (1st Cir. 1990). Intentional

4

United States District Court

19

Morever, it is undisputed that the shares the parties agreed to exchange in the Agreement and the shares involved in the Microsoft's transaction are of different classes. Accordingly, the failure to disclose the difference in the valuations cannot be fraudulent as a matter of law.

Further, the Agreement does not attribute a specific value to the outstanding shares of Facebook's stock; there is no admissible evidence that Plaintiffs made any such representation while negotiating the settlement. 11 Rather, the only representation evident from the Agreement is the number of fully diluted shares which Facebook currently has outstanding. (Parke Decl., Ex. A.) Defendants have failed to show that this representation was false or that there were any other misrepresentations made by Plaintiffs upon which Defendants could have justifiably relied.

In sum, the Court finds Defendants have failed to establish that Plaintiffs made a misrepresentation during the negotiation. The individual signatories to the Agreement are sophisticated business parties who were represented by reputable counsel at the mediation. Either party could have chosen to condition the financial exchange being negotiated on representations and warranties of the value of the stock involved or to conduct their own due diligence with respect to Facebook's valuation. Neither party chose these courses of conduct. Notably, in his June 3, 2008 order denying ConnectU's motion to compel production of documents, Judge Woodlock stated:

From all that appears, the parties were prepared to settle their disputes then, despite the fact that aspects of discovery in this case—most pertinently for present purposes, document production—had not been completed and unresolved discovery issues remained outstanding.

(See June 3, 2008, Memorandum and Order at 2, No. 07-10593-DPW, D. Mass.) Thus, the parties elected to proceed with their settlement negotiations knowing they lacked potentially relevant concealment exists only "when a party to a transaction, who is under no duty to speak, nevertheless does speak and suppresses facts which materially qualify the facts stated." Persson v. Smart Inventions, Inc., 125 Cal. App. 4th 1141, 1164 (2005).

¹¹ Defendants proffer evidence of statements made during mediation that resulted in the Agreement. Under ADR Local Rule 6-11, "anything that happened or was said, any position taken, and any view of the merits of the case formed by any participant in connection with any mediation ... shall not be ... (2) disclosed to the assigned judge; or (3) used for any purpose, including impeachment, in any pending or future proceeding in this court." Pursuant to this privilege, the Court declines to conduct a hearing or consider evidence regarding the details of the parties' negotiations in their mediation.

information. Without a showing by Defendants of a material misrepresentation or omission in the negotiations, the Court finds no basis to decline enforcement.

2. Securities Fraud

In their opposition and sur-reply, Defendants contend that the Agreement is not enforceable because Plaintiffs committed securities fraud, making the Agreement voidable. (Opposition at 14; Sur-Reply at 7.)

Neither Plaintiffs nor Defendants have cited authority that an agreement to exchange shares of closely held corporations pursuant to settlement of litigation between the companies is voidable by showing securities fraud. The cases which Defendants cite in their sur-reply regarding a duty to disclose "material non-public information" all fall within the context of insider trading, which is not an issue in this case. (Sur-Reply at 10.)

On June 24, 2008, the day after the hearing, Defendants requested leave to file additional authority to provide precedent for voiding a purported settlement agreement on the basis of securities fraud. 12 While Defendants cite one case where a settlement was found void under § 29 of the Securities Exchange Act, that case involved an agreement which violated the margin requirements of Regulation T because the defendant failed to recover capital after the settlement. Pearlstein v. Scudder and German, 429 F.2d 1136, 1142-43 (2d Cir. 1970). Contrary to Pearlstein, the Ninth Circuit has held that a broad release in a signed settlement agreement operates to prevent a party from collaterally attacking the agreement by alleging it violates the securities laws under § 29. Petro-Ventures, Inc. v. Takessian, 967 F.2d 1337 (9th Cir. 1992). Specifically, the Ninth Circuit noted:

[w]hen, as here, a release is signed in a commercial context by parties in a roughly equivalent bargaining position and with ready access to counsel, the general rule is that, if 'the language of the release is clear, . . . the intent of the parties [is] indicated by the language employed.'

¹² (See Docket Item No. 454.) While Plaintiffs have not had an opportunity to respond, the Court finds good cause to grant Defendants leave and considers the authority presented in Defendants' papers.

Id. at 1342 (quoting Locafrance U.S. Corp. v. Intermodal Sys. Leasing, Inc., 558 F.2d 1113, 1115 (2d Cir. 1977)). Thus, in Petro-Ventures, the Ninth Circuit effectuated the parties' intent to bring about "general peace" by finding that their settlement agreement cannot be voided under § 29. Id.

As in Petro-Ventures, this case involves a settlement agreement reached by the parties, who were represented by counsel, in which they intended to undertake to give mutual releases that were "as broad as possible." (Agreement ¶ 2.) There is no doubt that the language of the release in Paragraph 2 of the Agreement conveys the intent of the parties to release all claims. Thus, the Agreement cannot be collaterally attacked using § 29.

Accordingly, the Court finds that Defendants have failed to tender sufficient evidence of fraud in the circumstances proffered to the Court to create a genuine dispute as to whether the Agreement was fraudulently induced.

V. CONCLUSION

The Court GRANTS Plaintiffs' Motion to Enforce the Parties' Settlement Agreement. The parties are ordered to appear on July 2, 2008 at 10 a.m. to show cause why a judgment should not be entered ordering the parties to take the actions required of them by the Settlement Agreement. On or before June 30, 2008, the parties are directed to submit a proposed form of judgment consistent with this Order.
